

Warehouse Codes

Summary

Once you have used a warehouse, you cannot change the warehouse code. You can change the name though, as well as the capacity and warehouse type.

Explanation

These codes are locked in because the warehouse goes onto documents and the database has historical transactions in it that reference the codes. This data has to be preserved for auditing purposes, because the whse can be used to determine the GL postings, inventory levels, etc.