

How Do We Track Custom Bottles/Items With Unique Costing?

The way you track these would primarily depend on when they're included on your books. For example, do you consider them an asset when they're purchased but haven't been labelled? Are they only an asset when you physically receive the labelled bottles into inventory?

If it's the former, we could set up an "offsite" warehouse where you'd bring them into stock when purchased, then transfer them to your on-site/main warehouse as they're actually received at your main warehouse.

If it's the latter, then we can simply bring them in to stock in the main warehouse at the total cost of bottles+labels+labor costs.
